

In a distant galaxy, millions of light-years away, lies the lush and vibrant planet of Felinnea. Known for its stunning landscapes of bioluminescent jungles and advanced technology. But this paradise is now under siege. The Aliens, a brutal empire bent on universal conquest, has swept through the galaxy, destroying worlds and enslaving civilizations. One by one, planets fall to Aliens power. Now, the alien mothership—an enormous, world-crushing vessel—looms above the last free world: Felinnea. With the enemy closing in, Queen of Felinnea, the wise and noble ruler of the planet Felinnea, makes a desperate final move. She takes control of the last remaining Felinnean starship, the Stellar Paws, and sends a lone warrior—Cat—on a perilous mission across the stars. Her mission: to reach Earth, an ancient and mysterious planet, and seek help from its inhabitants. Felinnea is on the brink of annihilation, and only the humans possess the strength and will to turn the tide of war.

Cat is their final hope.
